EVtech

The David Lopatie Conference Centre,
Weizmann Institute of Science, Israel

June 1-2, 2026

EVTech is an international conference devoted to advancing basic research on extracellular vesicles (EVs) with cutting-edge technology.

It brings together leading scientists, clinicians, and industry partners to explore recent developments in EV biology, diagnostics, therapeutics, and standardization.

The meeting fosters collaboration and knowledge exchange across basic science, translational research, and biotechnological innovation, aiming to accelerate the integration of EV-based solutions into clinical and industrial applications.
