Supplementary Figure 3

Dependence of correlation coefficients on experimental conditions
To verify that the observed correlations are robust to the exact choice of experimental conditions, we evaluated average correlation coefficients between the modules rRNA and RP, STR and MRP for subsets of 200 randomly chosen conditions.
Shown are the coefficients for 200 different random subsets.