

Feinberg Graduate School

09 November 2023

Dear International Students and Postdocs,

In light of the situation in Israel, some of you left in haste without having the opportunity to address various administrative procedures, including submitting a travel request form through the Tafnit system and arranging travel insurance.

Therefore, the Institute has arranged collective travel insurance for all those who notified the International Office of their travel abroad. The insurance covers students and postdocs only, for a period of three months until February 5, 2024.

At the beginning of next week, those students and postdocs who notified the International Office will be emailed the policy, including the insurance details and instructions.

Please note:

1. The insurance does not cover family members, so you are required to arrange insurance for them independently.
2. Students or postdocs returning to Israel are requested to update the International Office.
3. Students or postdocs currently abroad who have not yet informed the International Office are requested to do so without delay.
4. Students or postdocs flying abroad from today onwards are requested to organize their travel arrangements systematically by submitting a travel request form through the Tafnit system before their departure.

We hope that these days will soon be behind us, and we can all meet again on campus.

Have a pleasant weekend,

Prof. Gilad Perez,
Dean, Feinberg Graduate School